

Jolly Boys' Visit to Exeter
Thursday 13th June 2019
(Amended)

Most of the pubs chosen are within yards of each other close to Exeter Central Station so it's just a matter of falling out of one into the next. A pub we have used before but not available this time is the historic Well House Tavern, opposite the Cathedral. In October 2016 it was gutted by a massive fire that spread from the premises next door. The owners have stated their intention to restore it and the adjoining Clarence Hotel but a completion date is uncertain.

We start at the Farmer's Union located at the junction of Queen Street and New North Road. It opens at 10am. from which time the bar is open and breakfast available for £4.50. If they so wish anyone could still visit the Imperial and just walk along New North Road to the Farmer's Union. Otherwise to get there it's a matter of catching one of the regular trains to Exeter Central, where you leave by the main exit. There turn right and right again into Queen Street.

Trains from St. David's to Central; 09.25, 09.49, 10.16, 10.25, 10.49, 11.16, 11.25, 11.49, 12.16.

If you are too late to visit No.1 leave Central Station by the platform 1,2 London end bridge exit.
